THE DATING DILEMMA SERIES

2022

PART 1

A NEW ERA

For the first time in history, women are able to support themselves financially at higher rates, making relationships based strictly on financials obsolete. This new dynamic has brought to light the disproportionate distribution of emotional labor in relationships. Explore how this new era impacts dating and relationship expectations.

CHANGING THE NARRATIVE

Join us as we break down how society has categorized certain emotions and descriptors as inherently 'male' or 'female' and how this negatively impacts women in the workplace and contributes to violence against women in society.

POWER IN ACCOUNTABILITY

Violence against women and relationship dissatisfaction is strongly built upon a foundation of victim-blaming and a lack of accountability. In the final part of this series, we will dismantle the ideals surrounding violence and disrespect by addressing the historically negative attitudes adopted by society.
